Current Comment

The time has come for searchers-after-the-t r u t n to pull in their horns; reason has crawled into its hole, and pulled the hole in after it. "Current Comment" is about to follow suit.

We've all enjoyed this "colyum"—I've enjoyed writing it, and I know that a good many of you have enjoyed reading it, even when you did not see eye to eye with me on some issues. In this column I have sought to de-bunk the popular superstitions which have made this country putty in the hands of big interests. I have attempted to rob war of its glamor—and I have undoubtedly been attended by a measure of success.

This week I invited a young feller of my acquaintance to contribute the weekly comment. The offering thoroughly de-bunked one of America's most selfish and stupid minorities, and I knew that I could not use it without drawing upon my head the unreasoning wrath of every flag-waver in the land. I realized then that my appeals to reason, my attacks on the institution of war, my fight for education, and my support of the underdog must cease—and all because a stupid, easily-led mob of vigilantes finds reason irritatingly foreign to their mental equipment.

You can understand my position. My livelihood must continue at the expense of intelligent discussion of national problems. And rather than ape the bigoted press of the land, we'll do away with editorial comment altogether.

Unless my readers are sufficiently interested in the good fight to back me up in future discussions. If that support is forthcoming, the campaign of reason will continue, and we'll just plaster a little more fire insurance on the plant.

BUSY BEE PROPRIETOR IS ARRESTED

Harry White, proprietor of the Busy Bee restaurant, was arrested again last Monday, for the second time in five weeks, by deputies from the office of Sheriff William J. Emig assisted by Constable Coupland and Frank Weeks. The charge was violation of the state liquor law in connection with the alleged selling of whiskey.

Taken to the county jail, White was released several hours later when he brought forward bail to the amount of $1000. He will appear before Justice of the Peace John D. Blaine, who had previously found him guilty, and fined him $100.

According to information received from Mr. White himself, the Busy Bee restaurant was sold to a Sunnyvale man more than a week ago, and the owner is said to be prepared to occupy today noon.

Leonard Smith and George Whipple are in Monterey county hunting for a few days.

Pundita Benefit Entertains 60

Over 60 members of the Pundita Circle and their guests attended the benefit bridge and garden party sponsored by the club held last Wednesday at the charming home of Mrs. L. J. Carboni on the Santa Clara-Los Gatos Road.

The tables for card playing were placed on the lawn and shaded by the large trees and gay beach umbrellas. Refreshment were served in mid-afternoon and card playing was enjoyed until evening. Part of the day was spent viewing the attractive garden of Mrs. Carboni and Mrs. Eustace Parsons, whose home adjoins the Carboni's.

The proceeds of the party have been put in the charity fund of which Mrs. B. O. Curry, Mrs. Stanley Smith and Mrs. M. E. Mumma have charge. Much credit is due this committee for the success of the party.

Amorc Founds University In Baconian Theory

Nearly 800 AMORC Rosicrucians from throughout the world gathered at their sixth annual convention in San Jose California, to witness the dedication of their science building founded on idealistic lines, relates Mrs. May Fox. Mrs. Fox attended the Rosicrucian Convention held in July, having represented there the membership of this district.

Sir Francis Bacon, 1600 A. D., father of the present school of science, conceived in his novel "The New Atlantis" a university whose object it would be to scientifically investigate the hypotheses and theories advanced by learned men, which because of their fantastic nature were considered "beyond the realm of religion or conventional science." The Rosicrucians recognize Bacon as an early officer of their Order, and thus their science building of ornate Egyptian design and housing chemistry, light, radio, physics and photographic laboratories will be devoted to original research into strange phenomena.

An important feature of the convention was the conferring on Dr. H. Spencer Lewis, Imperator of the Order, A Cross of Association for distinguished service rendered the Association in its war on crime. Educational features consisted of philosophical addresses by Rosicrucian authorities on outstanding spheres of science. The delegates witnessed at the close of the convention a demonstration of the geometrical designs that sounds cause when translated into light, says Mrs. Fox.

Mr. and Mrs. Gayno Eddlemon and son Donald, returned recently from a weeks' vacation at Capitola.

Pitman Bids to Succeed Self

Hayden W. Pitman, who has anounced his candidacy to succeed himself as Assessor of Santa Clara county, has devoted his entire life to the study and administration of assessment practices and procedure. Recognized as an authority in this line, systems introduced by him in the San Jose office have been adopted throughout the state.

Born in this county of pioneer parents, Mr. Pitman was educated in the schools and universities of this county. After completing his education, except while in the army during the World War, his entire career has revolved around problems of taxation.

Urging his retention in office, outstanding business and professional men and women of this county have signed his list of sponsors.

Mr. Pitman's fraternal and civic affiliations include the American Legion, B. P. O. E., the Junior Chamber of Commerce and several luncheon clubs.

VINELAND CLUB RE-ORGANIZED

The old Vineland Improvement club will be reorganized soon, according to George Burrow, local orchardist.

The club was organized about eight years ago for the improvement of conditions in this vicinity. Under the influence of the club many improvements in lights, water and road were made, but for the past few years the club as been more or less inactive and not until now has there been a need for such an organization. Now, when the water situation has become acute, some of the members are desirous of reorganizing to aid in the conservation program.

George Burrow, S. N. Hedegard and Mark Purmort are responsible for the reorganization and are out canvassing among the members of the old club to work up a new list. Residents in the Campbell, Vineland and Sunnyoaks districts are eligible to membership in the club.

Mrs. R. Y. Maxon returned home Sunday from a months visit in Chicago.

Mrs. T. A. Robinson underwent a serious operation at the San Jose hospital last Friday. It is reported that she is recuperating very nicely.

TRAGEDY ENDS FISHING TRIP TO ANTIOCH

A San Jose man, Tony Silvia, aged 30, was drowned and Warren Eddleman, local youth, narrowly escaped death when the small fishing boat they were using was capsized by heavy swells in the Antioch slough last Sunday.

The two youths were a part of a fishing party of five which had agreed to split up, rather than entrust any of the slight crafts with the entire burden. Along in the late afternon the swells became exceptionally large, and the boat in which Eddlemon and Silvia were riding suddenly capsized, both of the young men being thrown into the water. Eddlemon, being a strong swimmer, immediately began a search for his comrade, but Silvia failed even to rise, evidently having been swept down to the bay by the swift undercurrent of the slough. Eddlemon managed to swim to shore, despite his bad condition of fatigue, and a further search was begun immediately, but no trace of the body was found.

Dragging operations were still in progress yesterday, but no clue as to the whereabouts of the drowned man had been discovered.

Mr. Harold Alsford of San Francisco was a recent weekend visitor at the B. O. Curry ranch. He is Mrs. Curry's nephew and at one time attended Campbell high school. He is now a government inspector at the Custom House in San Francisco.

Casey Road Is Graded to Dam

With the levelling off of Casey road, at the point where it crosses the Los Gatos creek just above the recently constructed dam, the Page dam project is now completed, and water will be led into the Page ditch this winter to begin the much-discussed winter irrigation program in this vicinity.

No estimate of the capacity of the dam has been made as the dam was constructed to divert the water which normally flows into the San Francisco bay, and was not built to provide a service in the nature of a resevoir.

The small wooden structure which formally occupied the site of the present dam was built, according to old-timers, by G. W. and C. R. Page in 1902-1903, but it was destroyed in 1927 by violent flood waters.

Kiwanis Ball Team Defeated by 'Cats'

The Los Gatos Kiwanis team defeated the Campbell club team 5-3 in an inter-club baseball game at the local diamond last Tuesday. This makes a game for each of the clubs and the next game will decide the winner.

The local Kiwanians have the lead in the inter-club bridge tournament and also the golf tournament, having won the first games.

The club winning two out of three games will be the guest of the losing club at an inter-club dinner.

The FARMERS CORNER

by RALPH H. TAYLOR

Executive Secretary Agricultural Council of California

Stream-lined, air-conditioned, super-speed trains are rapidly supplanting the old-fashioned, inefficient coaches in the passenger service of American railroads—a reassuring sign that the railroad companies are finally awakening to the challenge of modern competition!

But the average farmer's enjoyment of the modernized trains, due to the pinch of economic conditions, is largely restricted to watching them streak by his fields.

The new mode in railroading, however, may ultimately have tremendous significance for agriculture—if present improvements in passenger service are carried into the freight and express service!

To the California farmer, far removed from his markets and with transportation costs often exceeding the total cost of producing his crops, a new day of cheaper, faster transportation would spell recovery and profits after years of depression and deficits.

In California citrus industry, for example, freight bills represent the largest single item in the cost sheet, exceeding the cost of production and far more than surpassing the grower's returns.

Based on last season's figures, according to Paul S. Armstrong, manager of the California Fruit Growers Exchange, it costs 87 cents to produce a box of oranges, without allowance for interest or depreciation. And it cost $1.12 to transport the box to market!

The average transportation cost for the season, reports the Exchange, was 41 per cent of the delivered price.

In many other branches of agriculture, much the same situation exists, with freight charges taking the profit out of the business, regardless of the farmer's economies in growing his products.

While the railroads undoubtedly have many difficulties to meet in reducing their costs to permit the drastic reductions in transportation rates which are essential, it is equally true that rapid progress must be made toward a new deal of faster and cheaper transportation if they are to hold the business.

Pacific Coast agriculture, due to the great distance to its markets, will probably always rely, in the main, on rail transportation; and it is to the interest of California farmers to support the railroads in every legitimate effort toward their rehabilitation.

But the farmer cannot afford to continue with transportation rates which have the effect of forcing him to operate his busines for the support of the railroads.

It is to be hoped, both from the standpoint of the railroads and from the standpoint of agriculture, that the counterpart of the streamlined, super-speed passenger trains will soon make their appearance in the freight service.

Emig Praised by Peace Officers

Two important Northern California peace officers joined today in praise of Sheriff William J. Emig of Santa Clara county, who seeks re-election August 28.

In messages to the people of Santa Glara county, Sheriff William J. "Dick" Fitzgerald of San Francisco and Chief of Police Bodie Wallman of Oakland declared peace officers respect and admire Sheriff Emig for his conduct of office since January, 1931.

Sheriff Fitzgerald said, in part:

"We have learned to appreciate Sheriff Emig's worth as a peace officer cause of his conscientiousness and zeal in pursuit of the criminal. Likewise his attention to the details of law pertaining to service of writs is worthy of highest commendation.

"Sheriff Emig's untiring efforts and persistent determination has given him an enviable record in clearing up of major crimes committed in his county during his term of office."

Chief Wallman declared:

"Sheriff William J. Emig has earned himself the respect and admiration of all peace officers of California by his handling of major crimes in Santa Clara county."

Both officials termed their individual relationship with the Santa Clara county sheriff's office as "most pleasant and cordial."

Substantial freight rate reductions would do more to return California agriculture to a reasonable measure of prosperity than any other single factor.

And a prosperous agriculture, in turn, would be more important than any other development in speeding all forms of business and industrial recovery in the state as a whole.

The Campbell Kiwanis club enjoyed an Italian dinner at the Italio hotel in San Jose last night. The entire club was the guests of Ralph Hyde who lost a bet to W. N. Lloyd in a five-game golf contest.

C. Spaulding Seeks Office Of Coroner

With conviction that his experience as a public official and as a banker qualify him for the office, and a frank declaration of his belief that a public office should not be made a private enterprise, C. C. Spalding of Sunnyvale is conducting a vigorous campaign for the office of coroner and public administrator.

Spalding's views on the necessity for separating the functions of coroner and administrator from private enterprise, he expresses frankly and forcibly. "The man holding these public offices should not be engaged in the undertaking business," he says. "A public office should not be made a private enterprise."

Resident of Sunnyvale for 35 years, for 12 years a member of the state legislature, treasurer of the town of Sunnyvale since its incorporation, and former president and manager of the Bank of America of Sunnyvale, Spalding believes his experience and training, both in private and public life, qualify him for the duties of the office to which he aspires.

The Orchard City Grange held a regular meeting Tuesday evening at the I. O. O. F. hall. Sheriff William J. Emig was the principal speaker during the lecture hour.

Mrs. E. R. Kennedy was hostess recently at a shower given in honor of Miss Helen Lloyd, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Lloyd. Miss Lloyd is to be married this fall.

Water Carnival In Lake County

Lakeport, Aug. 15—Lake county is preparing for the ninth annual celebration of its now famous water sports and rodeo carnival to be held through the three-day Labor Day recess on Saturday, Sunday and Monday, Sept, 1, 2, and 3. The festivities have in previous years drawn vast throngs of visitors not only from all parts of California but from many other states.

Clear Lake, the largest body of water entirely within the state, has become famous for its motor boat races. No less than seven world records have been established and the lake is called "the fastest body of water on earth".

The three day celebration covers not only the boating, swimming, diving, surf board and other aquatic features but two days of rodeo horsemanship for which a herd of full grown and untamed animals have been captured. Some of the best known riders in the state will participate as well as experts at the other "wide open space" events.

A huge parade will be featured on Sunday, with the star Commandery Drill team of San Francisco De Molays in their snappy "mounted trooper" red-coat uniforms in the van.

One day will be given to dare devil motorcycle stunts, in which riders from all parts of California will contest in speed, hurdling and flat-track sports. On Saturday night there will be a "golden gloves" boxing contest for Lake-Mendocino county championships in seven weights. Elimination matches are now being held.

The "Sweetheart of the fetes" is now being selected to be filled with guests for by popular vote. A hundred this fiesta, as has been the and two resorts are expected case in former years.
